The Reverend James Milbanke Disagrees Theologically With His Congregation.

RECTOR FAVORS "HIGH" CHURCH

Vestry Meeting Follows Sermon on Historical Subject Which Occasioned Severe Criticism.

Because the theology of the rector, the Reverend James Milbanke, failed to co-incide with that of the congregation, the former being decidedly "high" and the latter "low" church, service was not celebrated Sunday at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, Ferguson, St. Louis County. Doctor Milbanke, it is said, strongly favors following Catholic usage in many par-ticulars. He defends the confession and the use of candles. What is termed by some "his undue reverence for catholicism" is exemplified, it is stated, by his offering a prayer for the Pope when the head of the Catholic organization was reported at the point of death.

Then, a week age Sunday, he preached a sermon which argued that the English Episcopal Church was "sown in Iniquity." He attacked the founder, King Henry VIII, and the popular "Bluff King Hal."

This page in history the Reverend Doctor Milbanke is said to have painted very bluntly, and then went on to Queen Eliza-beth. Queen Elizabeth, who sustained the church and aggrandized it, Doctor Milbanke handled even more roughly, indicating, it is alleged, that the ordinary understanding of her friendship with the Duke of Bucking-ham and other peers of high degree "was as deficient as an expurgated edition of Shakespeare."

Such historical data, so wildly detailed, awakened severe criticism, and shocked the eminine element of the audience. The climax was a vestry meeting last Wednesday after which came what a leader of the ongregation terms an "amicable agreement to disagree." The rector resigned and, for the present, the church doors are closed,

The Reverend Doctor Milbanke is a young minister, an Englishman, positive in his views. His ability is unquestioned. He has associations among the "literati" of New York and London. The bent toward the stage is strong in his family, and one of his sisters is well known on the boards of Eng-

When called to Ferguson Doctor Milbanke found a vacancy difficult to fill. His predecessor, the Reverend Doctor Davis, an elderly man, had been the revered of all and was never embarrassed by question or quibble, and a new man, with positive

But the Catholic tendencies were the especial reason of the hestilities. He openly was an advocate of changing the church name to the "Catholic Church of America" when that matter was before the Episcopal congress a month ago.

About that time members of the congre gation went to Bishop Tuttle and complained of some points in his teaching. Bishop Tuttle visited Ferguson, heard Doctor Milbanke's statements as to what the teaching was, and sustained him.

The next episode was the historical sermon and the prayer for the Pope. Particu lar stress is not laid upon the latter, however, as the preponderancy of the congre-gation, though not thinking the prayer well timed, regard that a prayer for any person is not a theological offense. Prouty of Vermont are hearing the testimony.

The complaint made by the Central Yellow Pine Association is that its members who are engaged in the manufacture of yellow pine humber on the east side of the Mississippi River, in Mississippi, Alabama and Georgha are piaced at a disadvantage in competing for business north of the Ohio River, and east of the Mississippi River, with manufacturers of yellow pine lumber in Arkansas and in that part of Louisiana west of the Mississippi River, by reason of a division of rates which the railroad companies in question make with the lumber companies owning the lumber to the main line. The complainants allege that this tapline division is in violation of the Interstate Act, and the commission is asked to abolish the practice.

PRESIDENT PREPARES IOWA TARIFF PLANK.

Party Position on Protection Measures Calculated to Harmonize State Republican Factions.

CONFERENCE AT WHITE HOUSE.

Compromise, to Which Gov. Cum groot we have but to turn to the events of a single year.

"But in spite of its past record and its evil possibilities labor organization is indispensible to our modern industrial life. The orporation and not the individual must be the unit in our new development. Labor must be organized, but it must be organized along right lines. "Patriotism in this country means more than to sing America" on Independence than to sing America" on Independence buy; more than bearing a national flag along with a union banner in a Labor Day parade, even more than a declaration of loyalty in a trades union constitution. Patriotism anywhere in the ultimate analysis is altruism, professed and lived.

"The question arises, then naturally, what is to be the basis of reorganization? Our answer is simple. We would plant the new unionism on the basis of brotherhead, which is only another name for definitions. Washington, June 22.-President Roosevelt guided the hand that pur the final touches on the tariff plank of the lows platform, to be adopted next week, and George E Roberts, Director of the Mint, started for Iowa to-might with the "Roosevolt idea." It renews the allegiance of Iowa Republicans to the policy of protection as the foundation of Iowa's industrial growth and the upholder of the American standard of wages.

It demands an equitable tariff on foreign imports which do not come in competition with American products, both for purposes of revenue and protection to American labor.

SLIGHT CONCESSION TO CUMMINS. The concession to Governor Cummins is, after all, no stronger than the St. Louis platform, as the plank simply says that the party is not pledged to any particular rates, but that schedules should be regulated by the conditions of the time and production. In conclusion, the plank states that the Republican party should not hestitate to revise tariff schedules when it becomes apparent that changes are necessary. Secretary Shaw, who has just returned from a visit to lowa; George E. Roberts. Director of the Mint and owner of two influential Republican papers in Iowa, and Representative W. P. Hepburn called at the White House to-day and had a long conference with the President concerning the Towa blea. Senator Allison, Governor Cummins, former Representative George D. Perkins, Senator Doliver, Mr. Roberts, Mr. Hepburn and two or three other prominent Iowa Republicans prepared tariff planks for the platform.

These planks were harmonized by Senator Allison and it is known that the tariff sections of the party. President Roosevelt to-day put on the final stamp of approval.

Compromise has been the keynote of the lowa conferences and President Roosevelt's wishes have been regarded above those of any other party leader. JUSTICE OF NEW MEXICO SUPREME COURT DISMISSED.

STREET AND NO.....

President Appoints Michigan Man to Succeed D. H. McMillan, Deposed on Charge of Immorality.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL Washington, June 22.-Summary action was taken to-day by the President in dismissing Judge Daniel H. McMillan, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico, upon the representations of im-moral conduct placed before Mr. Roosevelt by Attorney General Knox.

President Roosevelt also announced at th

Fresident Rooseveit also announced at the same time the appointment of Clement H. Smith of Hastings, Mich, urged by Senator Burrows, as the successor to the deposed Judge.

Mr. Smith is a well-known lawyer in Michigan. Citizens in New Mexico suggested a candidate of their own, but the President preferred Mr. Smith.

The exact nature of the charge of im-preferred Mr. Smith.

The exact nature of the charge of immoral conduct against Judge McMillan is that he traveled on his judicial circuit accompanied by a woman with whom his relations were such as to provoke the indignation of citizens. His conduct while making judicial rounds is said to have been wholly unbecoming a Judge of the Supreme Court. Judge McMillan was appointed from Buffalo, where he enjoyed a position of high standing.

WOMAN WHO IS DRUGGED THREATENS TO END HER LIFE.

Blanche Williams Unable to Give Coherent Statement When Taken to the City Dispensary.

While deranged from the effects of drugs, which, it is believed, were administered by persons in a house on Walnut street, Blanche Williams, a young woman, threatened to commit suicide by jumping into the river about 9 o'clock last night.

She was seen by Mrs. Tony Combis, Mrs. Zoe Polley and George Johin, who were seated on the steps of the Cox-Gordon Manufacturing Company's plant at No. 1019 South Third street, and her peculiar actions prompted them to call a policeman. At the City Dispensary Doctor Humphrey found that the woman had been drugged, and her mental condition was such that she and her mental condition was such that she could give no coherent account of herself.

She declared that, beyond the fact of having come across the bridge, and had a trunk somewhere, she could tell little. She was unable to remember from what place she came or when. She several times mentioned having been at a house which, she said, she believed was on Walnut street. While there she said, she saw men and women passing in and out, but her recollection of the manner in which she came to visit the place was indistinct.

Doctor Humphrey said that her condition indicated that she had been drugged, but he declared she would recover in a few days.

FOUND DYING IN BATHROOM. Joy Martin Received Mysterious Bruises While on a Spree.

Joy Martin, a laborer, 35 years old, was ound unconscious in the bathroom of a odging-house conducted by Mrs. Dundons at No. 204 South Fourteenth street, and died in an ambulance summoned to convey him to the City Dispensary, yesterday morning. The discovery was made by C. A. Shaucross, a lodger at the same house. Shaucross went to the bathroom and found the door locked. He looked through the keyhole and saw Martin lying stretched on the floor.

note and saw Martin lying stretched on the floor.

Patrolman Roe of the Central District was called and entered the bathroom through a window. Doctor Freudenstein of the City Dispensary examined the body and found a small cut above the left eve and a bruise on the cheek. Mrs. Dundons told the police that Martin had sustained the injuries Saturday night, but she was unable to say how or by whom they had been inflicted.

Martin, it is said, had been drinking heavily for several weeks. His wife lives in St. Louis, but the police were unable to locate her yesterday. Martin's body was removed to the morgue.
